

MARITIME LEAD AUDITOR

This 4-day ISM/ISO Maritime Lead Auditor training course is aimed at individuals who will be involved in audits of their Company Management System(s) against ISO 19011 auditing guidelines, along with requirements of the International Safety Management (ISM) Code, International Ship and Port Facility (ISPS) Code and Maritime Labour Convention (MLC).

This training course will provide delegates with the skills necessary to undertake and manage Company internal audits. Recognised by the Nautical Institute, the course includes a copy of the ISM Code and a Maritime Auditor Training Guide with associated audit templates. It is suitable for sea-going and office-based staff and can be delivered at company premises or another suitable training facility worldwide.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

To familiarise delegates with the ISM Code, its context and how to apply the principles of ISO 19011 management system auditing guidelines, including to be able to:

- Identify key themes in risk, safety and security management and how audits support the development and continual improvement of Company Safety, Environmental and Quality Management System
- Understand the purpose and benefits of a good audit, and the use of standard auditing techniques
- Plan, prepare and lead an audit, and write effective non-conformity audit reports and summaries
- Understand the importance of resolving non-conformities and verification of completed corrective actions
- Understand ISPS Code and MLC Convention audit verification requirements

COURSE BENEFITS

- Individuals will have a good understanding of the ISM Code, its importance, and their role within it, including ISM, ISO, ISPS and MLC auditing requirements
- Individuals will be actively involved in the ongoing evaluation and development of Company Management Systems ahead of external verification by Administrations or Port State Control
- Delivered by experts with International safety and security management, compliance and verification experience in an engaging interactive style with a variety of related scenario case study workshops exercises
